General Report

The citizens of Deering can be proud of the effort they are making to uphold the tradition for good schools which this town has always had. This year it has been harder than usual because your state aid was sharply reduced. There are three reasons for this reduction. First, the formula by which state aid is distributed was changed; second, the valuation of the town was changed; and third, the legislature only voted about half the amount of money needed for the new program.

A study of the situation seems to indicate that there are few places where you can economize further. The geographical distribution of your population makes a great deal of transportation necessary. You are getting this transportation at a very low figure (about one cent per pupil per mile) yet the bill is large.

There seems to be no solution to the problem for towns like Deering except through additional state aid. This aid can only come when the legislature is both willing and able to raise the funds.

We should remember, however, that a child is in school only 12 years out of a productive lifetime of 50 or 60 years. Because children happen to be born in troubled times they should not be denied their full American birthright of education.

The East Deering School is in very good condition. Few schools of its size are more conveniently arranged or better equipped. Mrs. Fisher is doing very well in helping children make the greatest use of their talents.

In closing I would like to express my appreciation for the fine cooperation and guidance of your School Board.

Respectfully submitted,
J. HAROLD MOODY,
Superintendent of Schools.
